

Approved Driving Instructor 3-day course Teaching disabled people to drive

QEF Mobility Services are endorsed by the Department for Transport, the DVLA and accredited by Driving Mobility. We have been a part of the disabled community for over 30 years, helping people with complex disabilities to maximise their independence.

Who should attend?

Qualified driving instructors who are looking to further their CPD and develop new business opportunities by teaching disabled people to drive.

After completing the course, if you successfully apply to work as a freelance instructor for QEF's Driving School, or as a QEF Driving Assessor we will refund the cost of your course (subject to terms and conditions.)

"I love giving people their independence back, by encouraging and coaching them to drive in a new way with adaptations.

I found it lonely and isolating being a self-employed driving instructor, running my own business. I really enjoy being a contractor for QEF because I am part of a team and have a lot of support from other ADI's"

Val, ADI contractor with
QEF's Driving School
